

budget. The recommendations of a study must be carried through with a minimum of "corner" cutting and so called "short term" tactics in the name of expediency, or the system will seriously affect the overall strategy for long term development by imposing cost for renewal and replacement on future generations.